

Shandel McIntyre

What people like and admire about me:

- The passion, energy and drive I bring to what I do.
- My integrity and openness
- Not being afraid to recognise and take on challenges and make difficult decisions when necessary.
- Not being afraid to admit mistakes, listen to feedback and admitting to when I get something wrong.
- Not trying to do what I can't – and not trying to be what I'm not.
- Optimistic "lets figure out a way to make this happen" Where there is a will, there's a way

- Your personality is defined by what you do, not by what you say –

What is important to me:

- Family & Friends are a vital part of our existence and happiness
- Having a purpose is a fundamental component in living a fulfilling life with my career path gives a significant fulfillment and gratification
- Along with purpose comes passion, our desires, our dreams, and our hopes in life. When your passionate about something you'll work hard for it.
- Organization & consistency with my work ethic
- Having the ability to value time in life as it is precious and timeless life is too short to be stuck in the moment living life to the fullest

How best to support me:

(Teamwork makes the dreamwork)

- Give me honest and direct feedback- don't hold back constructive criticism is a way of success
- Offer specific encouragement and reassurance that my ideas are valued
- Communication is key
- Having a positive support system (giving and receiving)
- Having an open-ended learning environment
